Troubleshooting a McCulloch chain saw is much like troubleshooting any other chain saw -- they all have common elements which vary only in details. A chain saw is a gasoline-powered engine which drives a sprocket which drives a chain around a long bar. If the engine has fuel, air and spark, it should run.

McCulloch gas chainsaws use a carburetor with needles that regulate the inflow of gas during different engine speeds. These needles can be opened and closed slightly through adjusting screws on the outside of the carburetor. Adjusting the needles will help solve many engine problems and improve the overall performance of the engine.
